The President's Message

See you at Hunter's Expo!

Sitting in the Las Vegas airport daydreaming about hunts that have been and ones yet to come...I am just returning from the greatest hunting show on Earth – the Safari Club International Convention in Reno. My thoughts return to Kansas City as I am getting home to finish final preparations for the greatest hunting show in the Midwest – KC SCI's Hunter's Expo. Some mighty tall boots to fill after Reno, but our show is coming together nicely.

Hunter's Expo is our major fundraiser for the year, and it provides funding for programs we sponsor: Hunt for Warriors, Sportsman Against Hunger, American Wilderness Leadership School, Salvation Army Archery Range and Outdoor Learning Center, several youth opportunities as well as programs for the handicapped hunter and women's outdoor programs, just to name a few. We are on a mission to expand awareness of the hunting sport we all love.

Funds from auction items—donated by outfitters, suppliers, and fellow sportsmen—as well as tickets sales, raffles, and silent auction items are all necessary to separate us from other organizations. 70% of our Expo proceeds are spent locally on our programs that we can see and experience firsthand! Please check out the sampling of auction items listed in the following pages. I know you will find several that are too good to pass up!

With "winter blues" setting in, there is nothing like a spring hunt for turkey or that great get away hunt to places like Africa—all within reach at the Hunter's Expo. I hope you can all attend this 3 day event February 18-20, to have a lot of fun with old and new friends alike while shopping for that "bargain of a lifetime" hunt or auction item! There are plenty of activities for all ages!

In the words of our auctioneer, Jerry Hertzog, "Bid high and bid often!" You won't want to miss this opportunity to shop the vendor booths and hook up with your next hunt and hunting buddy over a dinner and auction excitement.

Please don't forget to thank a committee member for sacrificing their time and energy to put on such a great show! And thank you for sending me as your representative to the SCI International Convention in Reno this year. It is a trip you should all plan to take next year to Las Vegas; it's almost as good as hunting itself!

Mike Hagen, President, Kansas City Safari Club

KC-SCI CALENDAR OF EVENTS

From the Editor:

Welcome to the "Hunter's Expo" edition of the KC SCI newsletter. This is always a big one for me, literally, because it always has the most content and it seems I have to spend quite a bit of time making it all fit. There is something that makes any issue of the newsletter easy to put together, though, and that is hunting reports! We've had some good ones lately and I'd like to thank the people that took the time to write one up and send it along.

If you don't feel writing is your thing...consider coming out to the Hunt for Warriors in March. I guarantee that if you come to help out, and spend a little time watching our soldiers at this event, YOU will be the one that feels honored. They are a sight to behold, whether they are thinking up wise-cracks or coming to the aid of an older veteran that needs a hand getting up on the hay wagon.

See you at Hunter's Expo!

Hunt For Warriors Scheduled March 6!

By: Rodney Heinsohn, Hunt Chairman

Our next Hunt for Warriors will be on Sunday, March 6, 2011 at Hedge Hollow Ranch. The Hertzog family has once again opened up their lodge to honor our Veterans. Kansas City SCI will again provide a full day of appreciation to those attending. Registration begins at 8:00 am. After a safety briefing is held, it is out to the field for a pheasant tower shoot. A great BBQ lunch and Medal of Appreciation ceremony back at the lodge completes the morning. After lunch we head back out to pursue the birds that survived the morning hunt. We clean the birds and give them to the veterans as they leave.

As you can imagine, it takes a lot of work to put this together. We need KCSCI members and their families to help us out - whether it is cooking a side dish for lunch, smoking the meat, being out in the field helping the shooters or cleaning the birds. A few hours of work pales in comparison to the dedication that our Veterans have shown to us in their service. I really even hate to call it work. My daughter and I have a great time. What could be better than spending the day outside hunting?

The hunt we put together last fall had Veterans from WWII, Korea, Viet Nam, Desert Storm and about 20 Soldiers from Fort Riley that had just gotten back from Iraq and other areas of the Middle East. You just have to be there to realize what this means to them. Don't believe me? Then come on out and see for yourself!

I would like to thank the entire Hertzog family and Hedge Hollow for hosting all of our Hunt for Warriors events. Also Midway USA stepped up to provide all the safety glasses and ear protection for this hunt. If you can either come out and help us or are able to donate some money to offset the cost of food, shells and birds please contact me or any of the other KC SCI Board of Directors...Hope to see you on Sunday, March 6th!

Northeast Kansas Upland Bird Partnership & KCSCI

By Bryan Schanze

A regional upland bird partnership has been formed in Northeast Kansas to help address the declining upland bird populations, Northeast Kansas Upland Bird Partnership. KCSCI has joined in with the Kansas Department of Wildlife & Parks (KDWP), U.S Dept. of Agriculture, Pheasant & Quail Forever and U.S Fish & Wildlife Service to name a few of the organizations involved. The primary focus of the group is to work together with other groups and agencies in the region to restore and protect habitat for upland game species as well as priority non-game species. The leadership team has developed a set of goals that include habitat workshops, CRP updates, habitat work teams and funding sources for habitat work.

Habitat has changed dramatically in the past few decades in the region, leading to a spiraling downward population of upland game birds. With increasing early succession forest, fragmented habitat and changes in agriculture away from small grains, the quail, prairie chicken and pheasant populations are struggling. There are many management practices a landowner can utilize such as food plots, brood strips, tree cutting and shrub planting to help these species. KCSCI, in cooperation with the Missouri Dept. of Conservation and KDWP has produced a DVD on Upland Bird Habitat Management. The DVD covers the many factors involved in the declining populations and how to actually do the field work to implement best management practices for upland game birds.

KCSCI has also reproduced 1,000 copies for distribution to landowners at habitat workshops presented by KDWP Wildlife Biologists. We may never be able to bring back the good old days of walking up a covey every quarter mile of hedgerow, but we can try.

If you are interested in a copy of the DVD I will have some for available for club members at the membership booth at Hunter's Expo Feb. 18-20th.

Youth Turkey Hunting Clinic Information

Hunters age 9 -15 who want to learn about turkey hunting can register for a youth turkey hunting clinic Saturday, April 2, 2011. The clinic is sponsored by the KCSCI and Everhart's Wilderness Lodge. It will take place from 9am to 2pm at the lodge, which is northwest of Clinton.

The event gives youths a chance to learn from experienced turkey hunters. Participants learn about turkey hunting rules and regulations, firearms safety, shotgun patterning, choke and shot selection, calling, scouting, decoy use and equipment. The free clinic includes ammunition and lunch.

Registration is limited to 40 youths, each accompanied by an adult sponsor. Adults may sponsor up to two youths. Youths are encouraged to bring their shotguns. For more information or to register, call Johnny and Linda Everhart, (660)885-5049.

HUNTING REPORTS

By Christa Eichorn

I would like to tell you about a great opportunity I had last October to go on a deer hunt with my fiancé, Bryan Brenneman. In previous hunting seasons I had been with Bryan while he was hunting. This time was different: he told me this was my day to shoot my first deer!

We made it to our hunting spot - in Kansas - around 2pm. We set up our ground blind and began the waiting game. We had been sitting in the blind for several hours when some does came in behind us. We were not able to get a good shot off. Then around 530 pm before it got much later, we decided to take off walking across the property. After about a 1/2 mile of walking, we spooked a doe. Bryan has hunted this property for years and had a pretty good idea of where she was going. We had to run to the location to try to cut her off. We made it to where we thought we would have a good shot when the deer came out. So there we sat, in the grass, out in the open with no blind or tree stand. The wait was on.

There was a clearing about 75 yards in front of us, where Bryan was hoping the doe would walk out. Five or ten minutes went by, then to the right of us a little spike buck appeared. We watched him for a while. After a few more minutes, a nice buck walked out - as soon as we saw this buck we knew it was a very nice deer, and only about 40 yards away. Bryan and I were both in shock! Bryan has had many years of hunting adventures and he has not had an opportunity like this for himself. At that point I encouraged him to take the shot. With my little knowledge of hunting I was afraid I would miss this amazing buck. He told me "Nope, this is your hunt!"

The buck was still about 40 yards away and I was in the wrong position to get a good shot. Bryan told me we needed to switch positions to get a good shot at him. Yikes! Then I got really nervous about how we were going to pull this off without a blind. The ground was full of leaves and the wind was not right. Bryan said we had to do this fast, we only have a small window of opportunity. Wow, we successfully did it! The deer did not hear us and had not winded us yet. Keep in mind this process took us about 5 minutes from the time he walked out in the field to having the cross hairs on him. Once I was in position, my wonderful guide coached me through getting lined up to take the shot.

After the shot, the buck ran off into the wooded area next to us. We stood up and waited to see if we could hear the crash. We thought we heard it, so we headed back to the truck. Then the adventure of tracking the buck began. After about 15 to 20 minutes of following the blood trail, we found him - I was so excited about what I had just accomplished!

This was an amazing experience for me. Hunting is a sport Bryan is very passionate about, and he puts a lot of time in teaching and training our four children and myself about it. This is something as a woman, I thought I could never accomplish...but I did! I really hope by sharing my story, that it will encourage other women to take the opportunity to go out and hunt....so much fun! This is one way for a family to share and make a lifetime of memories. I feel like I will hunt for the rest of my life now. My daughter and I are talking now about a girls' hunting trip.

I want to thank my guide and fiancé for an unforgettable experience and for opening my eyes to how much fun hunting can be!

P.S. I now have the biggest deer on the wall in our house, at a score of 171 1/8"!

NEW ZEALAND ADVENTURE

By: Derrick Vidacak.

My wife Jennifer and I purchased a New Zealand Red Stag hunt with Lindsay Fraser Safaris at the 2009 KC SCI dinner/auction. We went on the hunt in June 2010 and had the most incredible time of our lives. Jennifer was up first and was looking for one of the New Zealand giants you see on brochures. She stalked a huge 384 SCI stag and put 4 nicely placed shots into its front shoulder at 280 yards. Later that afternoon my guide put me on a nice Alpine Goat after trudging through knee deep snow drifts across the ridge tops.

The next day two of the Fraser Safaris guides took me up into the mountains for a fair chase Chamois hunt on foot. After half of a day of mountain climbing and glassing we found a small group of chamois with one mature buck across the gorge. They ranged them at 370 yards. I was reluctant to take that long of a shot with a rifle I was borrowing from the outfitter, but my guide was certain it would be fine. I took the shot and dropped the chamois off the rock outcropping on which it was standing into the trees below. It took the rest of the day to get over to the chamois, cape it and pack it out. I learned later that evening that the Chamois I took was the only one taken on foot their entire season. They explained that most hunters don't prepare and train for the amount of physical fitness necessary for such a hunt on foot and instead hunt them by helicopter.

The next day the same two guides took me out into an area called the Upper Ringitata, near where one of the settings of Lord of the Rings was filmed, for a fair chase Tahr hunt. They glassed a nice bull and devised a plan to get me in close enough for a shot. We hiked up the mountain for an hour or so and got into position for a shot. The tahr gave me a nice broadside shot and I popped off a round. He dropped immediately and lied motionless for what seemed like 20 or 30 seconds. We started to celebrate the kill when suddenly the animal began sliding down the mountain on his belly. He wasn't dead so I popped off another shot but missed as he disappeared into the thick brush below. My two guides searched for the animal the rest of the day with no luck while I kept my perch on the top of the ridge. We decided to head back to the lodge and try again the next day. The next day was almost a spitting image of the previous but this time the Tahr tumbled into the brush and we had very little trouble finding him. After taking pictures, video and capping him out, we discovered that this Tahr had two bullet holes in him when I had only shot once that day. As it turned out, I had shot the same Tahr as the day before which made me feel good knowing that the first one I had shot was not still walking around wounded.

We were thrilled with our experience with Lindsay Fraser Safaris on the South Island of New Zealand. It has to be one of the most beautiful places in the world to hunt and everyone is so friendly and hospitable. The food was wonderful and the accommodations were great. One of the things that really impressed me about Lindsay Fraser Safaris was how they let us shoot all of the wallaby we could for no additional charge. It was a nice, unexpected bonus to kill some extra time. I would highly recommend Lindsay Fraser Safaris to anyone interested in a great New Zealand hunting experience.

ZIMBABWE AND SOUTH AFRICA WITH SOMERBY SAFARIS

By: Ed DeSoignie

The shouts from my Professional Hunter brought me out of my momentary reverie. "Good shot! You hit him hard! Reload and hit him again!" came the order from my professional hunter, Drom Beukes of Somerby Safaris. Damn, I had told myself over and over again not to stop after the first shot to admire it, but to keep shooting, yet I got caught doing just that.

The shot at the Cape buffalo bull had been taken from the last batch of cover, a scrawny tree 100 yards out. Any closer and we would've risked spooking the herd of a hundred-plus buffalo that were grazing in a large grassy field. Spook them and they might have just run the 400 yards into the national park bordering the field we were hunting, ending the hunt.

The 500 grain Hornady DGX (458 Lott) had smacked the bull hard in the left shoulder causing him to lurch forward about 5 meters and spin around coming to a stop. A second shot into the ribs caused him to drop to his haunches. It was time to get moving.

My PH's instructions almost became a chant as he kept telling me, "Reload and move up, move up, get close behind me, stay close to me," until we stopped within 15 yards of the bull. Two more shots ended the matter and the tension of the moment disappeared. It had all happened so fast that I was a bit dazed. I was still taking it all in as the backslapping started from my PH and assisting PH and resident Zimbabwean, Adrian Van Heerden of Bushman Safaris.

Later, after the photos and the carcass had been dressed, we came back and donated the bull's carcass to the local village of 50 families. Even with no telephones among them, word of the meat spread quickly. As we drove out, the smiles and waves we received confirmed the locals were pretty glad to have some meat in their diet and a break from their daily diet of mealie-meal.

We were in Zimbabwe, in the general vicinity of Victoria Falls in early October and the temperatures reminded me of Kansas in late August: hot and dry. Our daily routine consisted of early breakfast, out in the Land Cruiser by 6:00 a.m., then back to the lodge by 11:00 a.m., lunch, nap or reading and out again at 3:00 p.m.,

Submit a Hunting Report

A hunting report is a great way to share your field experiences and educate other hunters.

If you purchased a hunt at our Hunter's Expo, especially if it was a donated hunt, do the outfitter a favor and write a quick report to show your appreciation for their support of KCSCI!

To submit a report, email is best, send it directly to dsoine@sbcglobal.net. Otherwise, a report on paper or some other media can be given directly to David Soine or any of the KCSCI board members.

hunting until sunset. No phones, no television, no internet and no distractions.

After spending another day and a half looking for a decent Kudu, we headed back to South Africa. I eventually took a large, mature Mountain Zebra, a decent Impala, and a Warthog. And yes, I finally got that Greater Kudu on the morning of the day I was headed back to the States.

It was a culmination of a dream that had taken years of planning, saving and determination. My advice to those of you thinking of a safari is simple, find an outfitter you feel comfortable with, talk to each other so each of you understands the other and what the expectations and realities are. Then plan on shooting the rifle and caliber you plan on using -a lot. Especially if you're planning on using a heavier caliber rifle than you're used to normally hunting with.

But above all plan on having a great time - I did, thanks to Drom and Sune' of Somerby Safaris.

HUNTER'S EXPO

How Hunter's Expo Works

The Kansas City Chapter of SCI works year-round in partnership with members of the hunting industry to bring outfitters, makers of outdoor products, speakers and celebrities to the Hunter's Expo - Kansas City's only show exclusively for hunters. Many of those industry partners donate some of their services or products to the Chapter. Those donations are auctioned on Friday and Saturday night at Hunter's Expo. Funds generated by the auctions are then used by the Kansas City Chapter to support local hunting programs and education efforts. This is the only fundraiser of the year for our Chapter, so get it on your calendar, buy your dinner tickets early, and get to the show.

The Connoisseur's Corner

By Chris Cagle

BOURBON BALLS

These are great to keep in the frig to serve to your guests or grab one yourself and wash it down with a shot of Gentleman Jack.

2 Table spoons, coco powder
1 cup, powder sugar
1/2 cup, of good Bourbon

Mix the above together, then add:

10 ounces of vanilla wafers (crushed)
1 cup chopped pecans

Roll into one inch balls, then roll balls in more powder sugar. Place in air tight container and put in refrigerator over night.

SUB-ROBUSTO CIGARS

This new size is becoming a big thing in the cigar world. Big ring size and short in length. The cigar company that started this is Oliva and their NUB cigar. They are 3-4 inches long with a ring size of 58-66.

There are several company's that offer sub-robusto's but I will tell you what Nub has to offer since Oliva is one of my favorite cigars.

Cameroon

Grown in Africa, medium to full bodied, rich cedar and coffee tastes.

Connecticut

This wrapper is grown here in the US. It is known for it's mild flavor and creamy tastes.

Habano

Robust, full bodied, bold and spicy.

Maduro

Brazilian wrapper, rich dark appearance and flavor, full bodied-but mellow.

Give these a try even though they are short, they last a good 30 minutes. Each wrapper choice has its own unique character.
